

Printing What You Need

So another feature I want to point out here is the print option. If you hover your mouse over the print icon, it's just going to say print. But if you click on it, it's going to give you the option to either print your collection, which is the page you have in front of you, or it's going to print all the recipes that you have added to your collection. It will print each recipe individually.